

Tip 45 - Involve your kids in your work.

As part of The Fathering Projects involvement with your school, I will be including helpful tips and ideas for all fathers and father – figures. I hope these tips will help, inspire and encourage all fathers and father – figures to be the best that they can be, as all fathers and father – figures are critically important in every child’s life.

More involved fathers and father – figures = better outcomes for children.

This weeks tips we are focusing on involving your kids in your work.

No matter how successful you are at work, your children are truly your greatest accomplishment. Work as hard on fathering as you do on your day job.

- When you involve your child in your job, you create special memories.
- Taking your kids to your work engages them in your world and what you do - it's a great way for them to bond with you. Not only will you have more time together, but your child will begin to understand a bit more about who you are, what you do and why you do it.
- If they can't come into your workplace, chat with them about what you do at work – show them photos and explain how you contribute to the world and why it's important.
